Common Market Is A Reality Holmes Ellis Tells Rotary

Holmes Ellis was the speaker yesterday at the regular Rotary Club meeting. Ellis said that the common market, the economy of the six nations involved, the status of agriculture, and the prospects for future exports of dark fired tobacco were covered in his talk. Ellis said that the Common Market has been called one of the greatest social movements in history. It involves six nations which have banded together for economic benefits, which is also binding them together in other phases of living together. The Common Market nations are France, Germany, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg and Italy. Ellis reported that the lowering of duties and tariffs between the nations is two years ahead of schedule. The first phase of the market in 1962 was steel and coal exchange and tariffs were lowered to bring about a free exchange among the nations. The next step was in the Common Market in 1968 which covered other items used by the 166,000,000 people involved. The third step in 1970 was the establishment of the atomic industry using atomic power for peaceful purposes. Fair competition and ethical practices is the guideline of the Common Market, Ellis said. The movement is governed by a 142

Ted Kennedy To "See" Status In His Senate Race

By HARRY FERGUSON
UPI National Reporter

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — Ted Kennedy finds out today whether he has cleared the first hurdle in his race to become a national political figure. The Democratic state convention votes this evening on whether to endorse him as candidate for U. S. senator or give its approval to Edward J. McCormack Jr., attorney general of Massachusetts and a nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack. Both sides are claiming victory. McCormack says he is sure of 916 of the 1,723 delegates. Kennedy claims a "clear majority" but declines to give a specific number. There will be a last-minute flurry to win delegates today and at 8 p. m. EDT there will be a roll call which will reveal who is misjudging the situation.

opened and they gave him a hard time, particularly about his voting record. "Why didn't you vote for Adlai

Ted Kennedy

Edward McCormack

Majority Decides
A simple majority on the first and only roll call will decide the issue. But the winner will not necessarily be the Democratic nominee for senator because the loser still can enter the primary in the fall. Massachusetts law compels both parties to hold conventions but they are nothing more than popularity contests. Nevertheless both candidates are clutching for this straw in the wind as though it were a life raft in a storm-tossed sea. Late Thursday Kennedy summoned reporters to a motel about 13 miles from Springfield, sat under the hot television lights with his blonde wife, Joan, and tried to answer some of the accusations that McCormack has been bringing against him.

Makes Many Charges
There have been lots of them and they include:
—That the Kennedy administration has turned the heat on here by dangling jobs as postmasters before the delegates.
—That William C. Hartigan, former assistant postmaster general, resigned recently from his Washington job to mastermind Ted's campaign.
—That offers have been made to delegates to get them out of legal and financial entanglements if they cast their votes the right way.
—That Kennedy's voting record is bad in the sense that he didn't bother to go to the polls in the last nine years unless a Kennedy was running for office. Specifically, his brother, John, McCormack emphasized that Ted voted in 1960 and 1960 when his brother was running for senator and president, respectively.

Kennedy Answers
Kennedy denied it all at the news conference. McCormack said he has documentary evidence about this campaign that would jeopardize President Kennedy's chances for re-election.
"I challenge him to produce it," Ted said. "If he is going to make such charges he should substantiate them. As state attorney general, he knows that such charges must be proved and that you can't just try cases in the newspapers."
This was the first chance reporters have had to question Kennedy directly since the convention

Stevenson for president in 1956?" he was asked.
"I was out of the state," Kennedy replied.
"Why didn't you vote on an absentee ballot?"
"I didn't apply for one."

The men in charge of the convention fear violence may break out on the floor today. Police had to be summoned Thursday to quell disorder in the credentials committee. When it was over, Herbert L. Connolly, a candidate for the nomination for lieutenant governor, denounced Kennedy as "an over-eager young man who is attempting to form a party dictatorship."

14 Escape From Eastern Germany

BERLIN (UPI) — Eight East German crewmen of a river excursion boat got their captain and engineer drunk on champagne, beer and schnapps early today and then escaped to West Berlin with five women and a child under a hail of machine-gun bullets fired by Communist guards aboard pursuing patrol craft.
When the captain and engineer awoke from their drunken sleep, all 14 refugees had reached safety unhurt.
The escape from the excursion boat, Friedrich Wolf was one of the most daring flights to freedom in the divided city's history. West Berlin police helped the refugees escape by shooting back at the Communist guards.

Ronnie's leadership abilities have been developed by serving on numerous committees, as vice president and president of his chapter, by attending the Kentucky FFA Leadership Training Center, representing his chapter on the parliamentary procedure team, and attending the National FFA Convention. He has also been active in school, community, and church activities.

$25,836 Structure Will Contain 47 Acre Lake North Of Benton

"With a construction contract on the first major dam awarded June 4 on the East Fork of the Clark's River Watershed project, flood prevention work should now move ahead faster." That is the consensus of Watershed Conservancy District leaders interviewed recently.

The new floodwater retarding dam will be built about two miles north of Benton. The work will be done by the Halm Construction Company, Benton, Ky. lowest of eight (8) bidders at a cost of $25,836.00. It is designed to store runoff water in a 47 acre area at flood stage. The water will be released slowly over a period of up to 7 days. Although this is the first dam of this type to be built here they are used extensively in Kentucky and throughout the United States. The full cost of major watershed improvement works are paid by the Federal Government under the small watershed program.

Conservancy District leaders are pleased with the new progress now being made here. "The main need is to relieve flooding," said D. Miller, chairman of the Conservancy District. "But the program will have a wide impact on the whole community. It will mean more local trade, better markets for local produce, more recreation nearer home. There should be a big saving on the cost of maintaining country roads."

Lowell Palmer, chairman of the Calloway Soil Conservation District Board and ASC office manager, commented on tax costs. Some farmers have felt that tax costs would not be fairly distributed. "There are compensations in the program that some people overlook," Palmer said. "For example during the last three years farmers in Calloway County received $42,000 of extra ACP cost sharing money as a direct result of the watershed program." This extra money was allotted by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service to help speed up what technicians call "upland" soil conservation practice. Completion of upland work in the drainage area of a dam is necessary to protect reservoirs from silting. Such work must be well along before the Federal Government will provide funds for watershed improvements.

The watershed program in the East Fork of Clark's River has greatly intensified soil conservation work generally, according to Palmer. About 65 per cent of all requests for ACP cost in Calloway County comes from farmers in the watershed, he said. Good progress has been made in the watershed in the seeding of critical soil producing areas but more needs to be done. Seeding of grass-legumes is the most popular soil conservation practice in the county, Palmer said. Other practices are use of agricultural lime, stone, grassed waterways, ponds, and tree planting.

Glen Doran, president of the Peoples Bank of Murray, told how completion of the watershed program will speed the growth of industry. "Murray is desperately short of good industrial sites," Doran said. "The wide area east of the city convenient to the railroad can't be used now because of flooding. We've had some bad experiences in the past. One large business employing more than a hundred people was flooded out just as it was moving in." There has been damage to the city sewage disposal plant and to tobacco in storage. These experiences give a city a bad reputation with industry, Doran pointed out.

Uncontrolled flooding costs the county in ways many people overlook, according to Carmon Parks, vocational agriculture teacher in the Calloway County High School. We're on the average daily attendance system of allotting state

Funeral W. P. Roberts Held This Morning

The funeral of William Penn Roberts, 83, was held this morning at 10:00 o'clock at the First Baptist Church with Dr. H. C. Chiles and Rev. J. H. Thurman officiating.

Mr. Roberts passed away at a Paducah hospital on Wednesday. His death resulted from having been struck by an automobile on December 26 of last year. Mr. Roberts worked on his father's farm until 21 years old, then taught school in Calloway County from 1900 until 1904. He resigned as a teacher to begin a thirty year career with the United States Railway Postal Service.

Always interested in flowers and shrubs, he entered the nursery business following his retirement, moving his business from Paducah to Murray in 1953.

His interest in plants and flowering shrubs and his ability in this area was well known in Murray and Calloway County and his advice and counsel was often sought. Mr. Roberts tended to all of his plantings himself so that he would know that they were properly cared for.

He was loved and respected by all of those with whom he came in contact.
Following the service this morning, burial will take place in Memphis, Tennessee in the Memory Hills Garden.

The J. H. Churchill Funeral Home has charge of arrangements.

Graham Warns That Being American Not Enough For God

CHICAGO (UPI) — Evangelist Billy Graham, at the mid-point of his Chicago crusade, said Thursday night that the new generation of Americans "has been schooled in violence, sex and mischief and led into lawlessness."
He told 18,000 persons at the McCormick Place Convention Hall: "It is a strange contradiction that in the midst of the greatest tide of church-going in our history, we should be breaking all records for crime, immorality, delinquency, graft and greed."

Graham said the current economic boom "is doing things to our morals that the depression never began to do." He warned that "Americans are not God's pets or favorites."

"We have an idea that God will overlook our sins because we are Americans," he said. "God does not judge individuals or nations by who they are but by what they are. God abhors a people who steep themselves in iniquity and refuse to improve their spiritual state."

The Protestant revivalist said that mankind will be "threatened by barbarism until 'man turns to God.'"
"The most savage animal would not descend, as men did, to do the deeds which were revealed at the Eichmann trial," Graham said.

Jail Inmate Hangs Self Last Night

Bill Lyons apparently attempted to take his life last night according to County Judge Robert Miller. Lyons is being held in Calloway County Jail awaiting action by the Grand Jury on an armed robbery charge.
"According to Judge Miller, Lyons used his tee shirt as a rope and was found hanging in his cell. Other inmates broke a dish or glass and used it to cut him down by reaching through the bars of the cell.
He apparently is all right today.

REA Takes Off Amortization Charge Here

The West Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation today announced the removal of amortization charges from electric bills, a change that will mean monthly savings for all members of the cooperative effective June 11.

At the same time, the cooperative's Board of Directors revealed that it had signed a new power contract with the Tennessee Valley Authority that assures its members another 20 years of lowest cost power.

According to the statement released today, the amortization removal will mean an estimated total savings of $84,500 a year for the 15,000 members of the cooperative. The homes, farms, businesses and industries that will benefit from the lower charges are in rural areas of Calloway, Graves, Marshall and Carlisle Counties, plus small portions of Hickman County.
According to John Edd Walker, Manager, West Kentucky REOC, the savings will be at least $3 a year for all members.
"Most of our members will save $5 a year from this change," he added.
Walker stated that the amortization charge is 1 cent per kilowatt-hour for the first 50 kw used each month. The minimum monthly charge is 25 cents. The maximum is 50 cents a month.

"The amortization charges," Walker explained, "were used to repay the investment in lines and materials needed to distribute electricity."
"The increased use of electricity by our members has made it possible to discontinue amortization."

West Kentucky REOC began distributing TVA power on June 11, 1942. In the first full year of operation, 2,307 members used 1.8 million kw. The cooperative's records show that in the last twelve months 160.4 million kw were used by the present 15,000 members.
"The average home in our area now uses 8,926 kw a year. This is well over twice the national average," Walker said.

Ed C. Ray, President of the Board of Directors, West Kentucky REOC, stated that the effective date for both the amortization removal and the beginning date for the new 20-year power contract will be June 11.
"And this is a very significant date for our cooperative," Ray stated. "One June 11, 1942, our areas. The private power companies considered this area incapable of supporting power lines.

The cooperative we rural people formed to do this big job was not established to make money
but merely to supply its members with electricity.

"As our financial condition improved, we have always reduced charges to our members. In 1960," he continued, "we removed the surcharge. This action saved our commercial and industrial members over $20,000 a year. In 1960
we reduced our members' bills by another $73,000 by cutting our amortization charge in half. And now on our twentieth anniversary
we will completely remove am-ortization charges."

"The new power contract," Ray stated, "is a real milestone for the people in our five-county service area. This new contract assures us of another 20 years of low-cost TVA power. If the next 20 years provide us as much progress as the last 20, our area will have much for which to be grateful."

According to the cooperative's records, the average residential cost per kilowatt-hour was 5.31
cents in its first year of operation. Last year the average cost was only 1.05 cents per kwh.

Other growth figures cited over the last 20 years include a better than 13-fold increase in plant value. In 1942 the West Kentucky
RECC system was valued at $487-746. The debt to REA then was $454,750. The present system is valued at $7,046,892. The present debt to REA is less than half the plant value.

When the cooperative was created, only 3 percent of the homes and farms in its service area had electricity. Today cooperative records show that 98 percent of the homes have electric service.

To bring electricity to its members, West Kentucky RECC has built a total of 2015 miles of line.

school aid money", Parks said.
"When a bad storm hits and the school buses can't get through, our attendance goes down and so does our school aid money." Parks mentioned one class that had 74 per cent absent during a week of heavy rains.

"The watershed program should move along faster now that we're getting a definite start," according to Marvin Hill, contracting officer for the Conservancy District. "The new structure will give people a chance to see how a floodwater retarding dam really works", he said. "It will make a good demonstration after heavy rains in the watershed to show the contrast with unprotected areas."

Hill described how land values of bottomland subject to flooding and silting has declined over the years. "Some farmers' land is now worth about half what it was even way back in 1921," he said. "Silt causing the damage has come from upland so both hill land and bottom land have suffered losses. The watershed program should help correct this situation."

The watershed program has brought extra technical help with soil and water conservation planning and application according to Robert Brown of the Soil Conservancy Service. As work unit conservationist assigned by the SCS to the Calloway County Soil Conservation District, Brown and his staff help farmers in the district with soil conservation work.
The staff at the office in Murray was doubled in 1960 to help speed up work in the watershed. "From the long term standpoint," Brown said, "the watershed program will help farmers adjust to better land use. Farmers with both hill land and bottom land for example, will be able to use the low land more intensively, thus moving more cultivated crops that cause erosion
off the sloping land."

Three of the water retarding structures will be located in Marshall County and the remainder will be in Calloway County.

Work is already underway on structures in the West Fork Clark's River Watershed.

As you know, your electric bill includes a monthly amortization charge. These charges have been used to repay the investment in lines and material needed to bring you electricity. The amortization charge is presently 1 cent per kilowatt-hour for the first 50 kwh used each month. The minimum monthly charge is 25 cents. The maximum is 50 cents a month.

Beginning with all meters read on or after June 1962, the amortization charge will be completely removed!

This new rate policy will mean savings for all members . . . homes, farms, businesses, industries—everyone will save. Most of you will pay $6 a year less for electricity. Everyone will save at least $3 a year. In all, the members of West Kentucky RECC will save an estimated $84,500 a year.

Your increased use of electricity has made this change possible. The average home in this area now uses 8,168 kwh a year, or better than twice the national average. And 20 years ago, when your cooperative was organized, the private power companies were saying that the homes and farms in this area wouldn't use enough electricity to pay for the investment to serve you.

Your cooperative was formed to bring you electricity, not to make money. For this reason, your charges have been reduced several times in the past.

Your Board of Directors Sign the new power contract . . .

Your Board of Directors recently signed a new power contract with TVA that removed your amortization charge. Besides reducing the amount of your electric bill, this new contract means other important benefits for you. This contract assures you of another 20 years of low-cost power.

The Board of Directors are Ed C. Ray, President; Guy T. Chester, Vice President; O. S. Wall, Secretary-Treasurer; Robert Colley; H. V. Howard, Ike Wooden, A. D. Willingham, H. G. Gingles, and John Collie.

Calloway Teen Club Holds Regular Meet

The Calloway 4-H Teen Club met on June 1 at 7:30 p. m. in the City Hall with president Randy Patterson presiding. Pledges were led by Marybeth Bazzell, and Mr. Glen Sims led in prayer. Minutes were read and approved and twenty members answered the roll call.

The committee in charge of light bulb sales announced that a final drive would be made in the county on Monday June 4. All members were urged to work hard selling the bulbs since proceeds would be used to help "light the way to Washington, D. C."

Plans were made to sell popcorn from Saturday to Tuesday in front of the Capitol theater, proceeds going to the trip fund. Mr. Sims and Mrs. Barletta Wether gave the group some instructions on proper clothing to wear while on the trip. Girls are required to wear the official 4-H uniform dress and boys white shirt with 4-H emblem plus tie, when appearing in a group in Washington.

Acting upon a recommendation from the Adult 4-H Council the club voted to accept those who participated in the County 4-H "Talent" Show, and those who would participate in dairy, livestock and soil management judging, as being eligible for the trip. This gives members who failed to qualify by participating in the County Rally or Dress Review another chance to qualify for the trip.

The Adult Council also recommended Randy Patterson as a candidate for the office of State

4-H president. The election for state officers are held during 4-H Week at Lexington, Kentucky which will be June 12-16 this year.

After a speech by Randy, the club eagerly began making plans with Randy which they hope will help him win the state office. Announcements were made of delegates from the club who will attend the State 4-H Week at Lexington. Boys attending will be Jerry Spiceland, Gary Ezell, L. W. Patterson, Randy Patterson and Eddie Grogan. They will be accompanied by Glen Sims. Girls attending will be Linda Henry, Nancy Skell, Cynthia Ezell, Anna Galloway, Janet Like and Marybeth Bazzell. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Howard Bazzell, 4-H leader from Kirksey.
